

The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 92: July 31, 1930 (Classic Reprint) (Paperback)

By John A Widtsoe

FBC LTD, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 92: July 31, 1930 It would be impossible within the scope of this brief article to even name the many projects of a secular character to which the Church has made contribution. There is scarcely a single phase of the economic and commercial development of the country wherein its members have resided which has not been touched and directly influenced by it. The members of the Church for the greater part of its history have lived on the frontier. Ever pushing and being pushed westward from the Atlantic seaboard, they have constantly been confronted with the problems and hardships of the pioneer. The Church as an organization has been their sustaining friend, giving infinite aid in the making of roads, the building of bridges, the construction of reservoirs, ditches and canals, comprising extensive irrigation systems, the stocking of farms and ranches and the acquisition of the land itself, the establishment of stores, factories, mines, banks, insurance companies, lighting plants, water systems, railroads, commercial buildings and substantially every other activity and enterprise involved in...
